point 3 "Conclusions on a European approach to media literacy in the digital environment"

Media literacy in the digital environment

The Council is expected to adopt conclusions on a European approach to media literacy in the digital environment.

The conclusions are a policy response of the Council to the Commission's communication "A European approach to media literacy in the digital environment" (5086/08), adopted in December 2007. The communication promotes the exchange of good practices and explains the Commission's intention, as a response to its obligation under the new audiovisual media services directive to monitor progress, to launch a study to develop criteria and indicators for assessing media literacy levels.
